Summary

Insights should be a growth engine, not a reporting function.That belief has defined my career. I've spent years pushing insights teams from data delivery to strategic influence — turning understanding into sharper decisions, stronger strategy, and real business impact.I've led strategy and insights across consulting, agencies, and platforms. I build high-performing teams, ask uncomfortable questions, and help brands define the right problems and seize the opportunities that matter.At Electric Twin, I'm focused on what's next: using AI and synthetic audiences to make insight deeper, faster, and more effective than ever before.

Experience

Electric Twin
1 year 4 months

Insights and Strategy
January 2026 - Present (6 months)
London Area, United Kingdom

Strategic Advisor
March 2025 - Present (1 year 4 months)

Strategy & Insight Leadership | AI & Synthetic Audiences

I help insight leaders turn intelligence into commercial advantage by rethinking how understanding is created, applied, and acted on.

At Electric Twin, I partner with Insight Leaders, Marketing and Product teams to unlock faster, deeper, more actionable insights through synthetic audiences.

My focus: elevating insights within organisations, reducing decision risk, and helping teams move with confidence in complex markets.

AI should amplify strategic thinking, not replace it.

Tracksuit
UK & US Head of Insights
September 2024 - Present (1 year 10 months)
London Area, United Kingdom

Global Insight & Strategy Leadership

Led insight and strategy across Tracksuit's international markets, partnering with client-side Marketing and Insight teams — creative and media agencies — to help brands get more value from brand measurement.

Developed influential thought leadership and frameworks that shaped industry conversation: co-created the Brand Fit methodology, launched Entertain or Die exploring brand entertainment strategy, and contributed to ARF research on how brands defy gravity.

Contributed to scaling the business globally by helping shape how the platform was positioned and adopted, working with internal teams on product innovation to strengthen the Tracksuit offer.

IPA (Institute of Practitioners in Advertising)
Effectiveness Leadership Group
April 2025 - Present (1 year 3 months)

Marketing Effectiveness & Commercial Impact

Serving on the IPA Effectiveness Leadership Group, contributing to the advancement of effectiveness thinking across marketing, insights, and brand strategy.

Working with senior industry leaders to shape best practice on how evidence, insight, and creativity combine to deliver sustained growth.

I champion the role of insights in driving effectiveness — ensuring data and understanding translate into confident decisions and measurable impact.

Effectiveness isn't about optimisation — it's about making better strategic choices.

Advertising Research Foundation (ARF)
Cognition Council
February 2025 - Present (1 year 5 months)

Industry Thought Leadership | Brand, Insight & Growth

Serving on the ARF Cognition Council, contributing to forward-looking thinking on brand growth, cognition, and behaviour.

Working alongside senior industry leaders to challenge orthodoxies and shape new frameworks for understanding how brands achieve sustained, outsize growth.

Co-researcher and presenter of Defying Gravity: How Brands Stand The Test of Time, research examining the strategic and behavioural forces that enable brands to maintain strength through market turbulence.

This work advances insight-led strategy and raises the strategic influence of insights within organisations.

Truth Consulting
Head of Truth / Executive Committee Instinctif Partners Group
January 2007 - July 2023 (16 years 7 months)

Leadership, Strategy & Industry Shaping

I helped build Truth from the ground up — scaling it into a leading strategy and insights consultancy and supporting its evolution into a PE-backed business.

As leader of Truth, I set strategic direction, shaped the firm's intellectual capital, and worked directly with client-side Insight, Marketing, Product, and Corporate teams to unlock growth through insight-led strategy.

Alongside talented colleagues, we built high-performing teams, developed future leaders, and established Truth as an agency known for bold thinking and commercial impact.

This experience proved what I'd always believed: insights matter most when they influence decisions and create advantage.
