Project INSIGHT: Threat Modeling and Assessment of Earth Orbiting Satellites

Reed Bond

U.S. Patent Examiner | Educator | Veteran | Leader
Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex

Summary

As a Recruiting Manager at Robert Half, Reed applied his robust background in systems engineering, education leadership, and IT service management to find and place the best finance and accounting professionals in the market. With over 20 years of combined experience in the military, education, and corporate sectors, he developed a unique set of skills and competencies that enabled him to understand the needs of both clients and candidates, and deliver optimal solutions.

Some of Reed's key accomplishments include leading IT request solutions for JPMorgan Chase & Co., managing and implementing campus-wide social and emotional learning programs for Frisco ISD, and winning the Air Force Chief Scientist's Award for developing a threat modeling and assessment tool for Earth-orbiting satellites. He is also certified in Scrum, Data Analytics, ServiceNow, and Texas Principalship. Reed is passionate about learning, mentoring, and customer service, and he strives to make a positive impact in every organization he serves.
