Architecting Human Systems
San Francisco Bay Area

Summary

I'm driven by a single question: How can we design human systems that thrive amid technological upheaval? Over the past decade, I've worked at the forefront of startups, VCs, and global brands—synthesizing insights from recruiting, branding, and community-building to help organizations navigate the evolving world of work.

Talent Strategist: From Andreessen Horowitz to Google to Build Talent, I've orchestrated everything from university pipelines to executive searches. I love connecting people to the environments where they can spark transformation.

Brand Builder & Culture Shaper: At Ouster, I scaled hardware and software teams, developed an award-winning employer brand narrative, and learned how storytelling can galvanize both engineers and executives. Now, as Chief Strategy Officer (CSO) at Nothin But Hits Media, I fuse cultural innovation with business strategy, forging partnerships and immersive brand experiences.

Future-of-Work Philosopher: I bring a reflective lens—rooted in history, psychology, and the mythic hero's journey—to examine how AI, automation, and new social paradigms reshape our work identities. Through speaking, writing, and collaboration, I explore how organizations can cultivate authentic culture while adapting to disruptive technologies.

Generative AI Explorer: I have a fascination with AI and generative art that I leverage in storytelling, brand-building, and forging new communication frontiers. I view AI as both a powerful ally and a catalyst for rethinking how we express and create meaning.

Whether I'm aligning an early-stage startup's talent strategy to its product vision, or ideating a community-focused brand activation, my mission remains the same: to architect human systems that honor creativity, foster connection, and embrace the future with strategic optimism.
