Contact

www.linkedin.com/in/kolyno
(LinkedIn)

Top Skills

IPFS
Non-Fungible Tokens (NFTs)
Red Hat Linux

Publications

Controlling CGF-Generated Entities Using a Fuzzy Logic-based System

Kasey Kolyno

Staff Mission Systems Engineer at Anduril
Tampa, Florida, United States

Summary

Systems Integration Engineer with experience in the aviation and simulation industry. Specialized in Real-Time Virtualization, Software Environments, Computer Networking, Operating Systems, and Serial communications as well as development and strong debugging skills focused on the interoperability and communication of dozens of computers. Graduated with a BS in Computer Engineering from University of South Florida.

Experience

Anduril Industries
1 year

Staff Mission Systems Engineer
March 2026 - Present (4 months)

Senior Mission Systems Engineer
July 2025 - March 2026 (9 months)

Technical SME on Voyager

Klas
Systems Engineer
April 2021 - July 2025 (4 years 4 months)

CAE USA INC
4 years 4 months

Systems Integration Specialist
January 2018 - April 2021 (3 years 4 months)
Tampa, Florida

Software Engineer
January 2017 - January 2018 (1 year 1 month)
Tampa, Florida

J.P. Morgan

1 year 8 months

Technology Analyst
August 2015 - January 2017 (1 year 6 months)

Designed and built small full stack application in PHP/Javascript/MySQL/HTML for all mainframe tasks/changes. Then rebuilt and scaled up project in order to service many departments.

Summer Technology Analyst Intern
June 2015 - August 2015 (3 months)
Columbus, Ohio

System conflict checking with a internal-facing website written in php.

University of South Florida
Programmer
June 2014 - June 2015 (1 year 1 month)

My responsibilities are to convert proprietary software for networked cameras and access cards, to open-source software. As well as many other technical services for the university.

Education

University of South Florida
Bachelor of Science (B.S.), Computer Engineering · (2012 - 2016)

Georgia Institute of Technology
Master of Engineering - MEng, Machine Learning · (August 2020)