Summary

As a previous professor of social foundations/multicultural education at Ball State University, I have over 20 years of experience in higher education, with a focus on normative and applied ethics, educator preparation and accreditation, and diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging (DEI&B) in the context of a democratic society. I hold a PhD and a MA in philosophy, a MS in education from the University of Miami, and a BA in English literature from Wellesley College.

My mission is to foster the inclusive culture and the critical thinking skills that are essential for the development of engaged and responsible citizens and educators. I have led and contributed to multiple research projects, publications, grants, and workshops that address topics such as cultural competence, racial justice, community policing, assessment bias, and curriculum reform. I have also mentored over 500 future teachers in culturally relevant teaching practices and co-created a toolkit for classroom inclusive excellence. Additionally, I serve as the president of Being Better Humans Consultancy, where I provide ethics and DEI&B consulting services to various organizations and communities.
