Summary

Most early-stage companies need someone who can figure things out faster than the organization can define the problem.I've spent my career doing that across defense technology, financial services, and early-stage startups: moving between domains, picking up context quickly, and building whatever the moment requires.I also write. Technical, financial, strategic communications, whatever the work calls for. Open to the right opportunity.

Experience

Mithril Defense

Head of Defense Integrations | Federal & Defense Proposal Manager
December 2024 - May 2026 (1 year 6 months)
Austin, Texas Metropolitan Area

Built the defense vertical from zero across a dual-track defense technology and commercial drone security company. Scope spanned government BD, federal acquisition, compliance, financial operations, and commercial go-to-market.

• Built and managed the full government business development function, including federal acquisition strategy, proposal development, and program capture across the Department of War/DOW and federal agency landscape.

• Developed and operated a high-output proposal engine; submissions earned a 5-year Army Blanket Ordering Agreement (cornerstone of the company’s federal revenue strategy), top marks from multiple federal evaluation boards, and selection to invitation-only defense advisory boards and industry events.

• Led regulatory and export compliance (ITAR/EAR, NDAA, FAA, ATF); developed requirements documentation, vendor sourcing, and partnership frameworks supporting defense integration and go-to-market execution.

• Drove startup operations across financial infrastructure, investor relations, FP&A, and commercial go-to-market strategy for a dual-track defense technology and commercial drone security company (DBA Campus Guardian Angel).

• Authored and managed all defense-facing technical communications, capability documentation, white papers, and strategic positioning (BAAs, SBIRs, OTAs, RFIs, RFPs), translating complex sUAS, UxS, human-machine teaming, sensor systems, artificial intelligence/machine learning, and C-UAS technology into language that worked for government acquisition audiences, investors, and commercial markets.

Write on Finance

Strategic Consultant & Lead Financial/Technical Content Writer

July 2019 - June 2025 (6 years)

Founded and operated a boutique content strategy and financial communications consultancy/micro-agency serving 150+ clients over six years across financial services, from early-stage fintech to multibillion-dollar asset managers, with no support staff.

• Provided content strategy, financial writing, and strategic communications services to clients across financial services, spanning institutional investors, wealth managers, private credit funds, family offices, fintech platforms, and payment processors.

• Led content strategy and go-to-market development engagements for fintech and financial services firms, producing white papers, investor-facing materials, platform copy, onboarding content, and long-form investment research.

• Designed and executed SEO and AIO content strategies for B2B financial services clients, with additional editorial and strategic contributions to high-impact financial newsletters.

• Built and operated agency infrastructure supporting distributed client operations (onboarding, delivery workflows, editorial calendars, and market-positioning playbooks) across a six-year run with no support staff.

• Produced investor relations and communications content for private credit funds and institutional asset managers, including board-level investment approval materials and full content suites for new fund launches.

InvestorPlace
