Dr. Montenegro has extensive, boots-on-the ground experience in conflict zones and austere environments.

He was embedded in Haiti during periods of extreme civil unrest and subsequently spent 4 years in hostile environments in Latin America before relocating to Africa.

In Africa, his travels include the conflict-ridden Kivu Provinces in the Northeastern Democratic Republic of Congo, the DRC-Zambian border, the Ethio-Sudanese Border, the Ethio-Somali Border, Oromia Zone, & the Southern Nations, Nationalities and Peoples' Region (SNNPR) of Ethiopia; in addition to Rwanda, Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania and Northern Mozambique - throughout the restive & lawless Ruvuma River Border-Region.

Due to his extensive experience in foreign countries, he knows how to navigate non-Western systems with respect to networking, business, import, export and the international sales of military equipment & surveillance technology.

Dr. Montenegro has over fifteen years of experience networking with AU and EU diplomats, military, security & embassy personnel, as well as private military contractors.

He has studied over fifteen languages, has a Ph.D. and two Master's degrees, specializes in Hostile Area Penetration, OSINT, Military and Intelligence Ops, SALWs, Sino-African Studies, Counter-Terrorism and Counter-Intel.

His Baccalaureate degree is in Middle Eastern studies, focusing on Sunni and Shi'a terrorism.

Many of Dr. Montenegro's research papers have been utilized as references by SOUTHCOM, the CIA, DEA & US Military Intelligence. Most of the research for his degrees was done under the guidance & tutelage of both active and retired US Military & Intelligence personnel.

He is currently attending Georgetown University for his 3rd Master's Degree in Applied Intelligence as well as working closely with several US-based Defense Firms on the sale and export of ITAR-regulated items including Blackhawks, advanced weapons platforms, SALWs and munitions.
