Henry Kaye

Senior Information Technology Consultant at Domino Lotus Consulting P/L
Israel

Summary

I am dedicated to bringing solutions to problems, adapting whatever technology is best suited to their needs. I am a generalist, not a specialist. I have a wide range of knowledge, mainly focusing on bringing the right message out to people who need answers - whatever the subject.

I am a fast learner with hands-on experience in many different kinds and sizes of business, from small startups to multinational industry leaders. I have worked for more than two decades for three of the top giants in the high-tech world.

In the past, I worked as head of research for a leading stockbroker in investment portfolio management. I have been working with companies engaged in manufacturing, doing database management on three continents with customers worldwide.

I work currently as a contractor, providing web content relating to pharmaceuticals and medical conditions, emphasizing spreading knowledge about the latest developments in therapeutic drugs.

I can combine all these into analyzing any current situation to develop the fastest, most effective, and most affordable solution.
